LOOKING FOR A TAILORED PARTNERSHIP?

AMIC can work with selected sponsors to develop bespoke opportunities aligned with your commercial objectives, including thought leadership, networking, product demonstration, delegate engagement and brand activation.

Welcome

The Australian Meat Industry Council (AMIC) is pleased to present the Meat Manufacturing, Processing and Export Conference 2027 (MPEC 2027). After two successful conferences, the MPEC 2027 program has expanded to include smallgoods and meat manufacturing, bringing together the entirety of the Australian meat industry to discuss the pressing challenges and opportunities facing business. This expanded focus also reflects an important tenant of the meat industry as the single largest manufacturing employer in Australia.

MPEC has continued to grow in relevance and impact, earning a strong reputation for its high-quality program, meaningful discussion and the opportunity it provides businesses to connect across the supply chain. MPEC 2027 will build on that momentum and expand its focus, offering a timely forum for industry to come together, reflect on progress and look ahead to the critical issues that lie before us.

The 2027 program will focus squarely on the issues that matter most to meat manufacturers, processors and exporters, explored through informed, professional discussion on stage. This will be complemented by a high-quality exhibition, a set of professional development industry-specific seminars, a well-curated social program and a gala dinner that recognises the people and achievements that underpin our industry.

MPEC 2027 will be delivered at a standard that reflects the scale, importance and professionalism of the $35 billion Australian meat industry. It also provides an important platform to engage with key industry and government stakeholders and to reinforce the critical contribution this sector makes to the national economy.

AMIC will work to attract strong participation from across our membership and the broader supply chain. The inclusion of manufacturing in the 2027 program ensures that the significant and dynamic smallgoods sector and further processors will be a large new addition to the delegate cohort. For sponsors and delegates alike, MPEC 2027 offers valuable opportunities to build connections, strengthen relationships and position for the year ahead.

For organisations considering sponsorship, we are committed to delivering genuine value and meaningful exposure. In partnership with our conference managers, we will work closely with each sponsor to ensure your objectives are met and involvement is maximised in line with the opportunities outlined in this prospectus.

We invite you to be part of MPEC 2027.

Tim Ryan
CEO, Australian Meat Industry Council
